Also featured in the 4-travel: an elegant kitchen centre with a 3-burner stove and large drawers. A special highlight is the glossy room divider facing the seating area with a bistro shelf, bookshelves and an attractive light installation.

The en-suite bathroom in the rear of the vehicle offers a lot of freedom of movement. In addition to a plastic-panelled shower cubicle, it offers a fully-fledged wardrobe which at the same time serves as a dressing room.

The new Dethleffs 4-travel Innovation meets design

Sometimes it's the little things that produce big results. We don't need to reinvent the pull-down bed in our low-profiles – we just rethink it.

In the Dethleffs 4-travel, the pull-down bed is positioned lengthwise and not across the way. This has practical implications: it can now be pulled down far enough so that you can get into bed as easily as in a fixed double bed. And the sleeping area of 200 x 140 cm is significantly bigger than any classical pull-down bed!

Having a pull-down bed instead of a fixed bed leads to completely new layout possibilities, as illustrated by the new model T 6966-4: by dispensing with another fixed bed, it is possible to create an inside space which is open and spacious and features a luxurious en suite bathroom across the entire width of the vehicle.

A modern design, many innovative ideas and attention to practical details round off the progressive appearance of the 4-travel.

A total of three layout versions are available in the 4-travel: with single beds, king-size bed or without an extra fixed bed in the model T 6966-4, which is presented here. The single and king-size bed versions are available in autumn/winter 2015.

Although the T 6966-4 is only 699 cm long, it includes a large bathroom in the rear, a spacious L-shaped kitchen with a 145 litre fridge and an inviting seating area. And despite all that, it still offers a wonderful feeling of open space.

There is even enough headroom when the pull-down bed is in its intermediate position. The convertible seating area can be used as additional sleeping space.

In its lowest position the pull-down bed goes right down to the level of the seats, so getting into bed is easy. And the ergonomic 7-zone EvoPoreHRC mattress guarantees maximum sleeping comfort.

World premiere! Introducing ... the lengthwise pull-down bed

The advantage of positioning the pull-down bed lengthwise is that you can lower it right down to the level of the seats without having to move any cushions out of the way. Getting into a bed like this has never been so easy. And with its generous size of 200 x 140 cm, you will be easily convinced to use it as the main place to sleep.

Even when the pull-down bed is lowered, access to the entrance door is still completely free. The pull-down bed can also be locked in an intermediate position. If the seats are used as additional sleeping place, the 4-travel sleeps four.

A large skylight which can be opened provides sufficient light and air over the pull-down bed.

The spacious L-shaped seating arrangement is inviting and modern. Up to five people can be seated at the versatile table. The 4-travel also provides enough headroom under the pull-down bed.
